

Weak adversary

(does not know the user's identifier)

Can link requests with the same identifier

Can learn authentication data (only during authentication)

Strong adversary

(knows the user's identifier)

Can see if user has account

Can read recovery information and try to authenticate

Can get core secret, if

- providers collude
- or can solve the authentication